All About Mrs. Gant

Mrs. Gant is an art teacher at Queen of All Saints, which is an elementary and middle school in St. Louis, Missouri. She has an older sister that lives in St. Louis like her and she also has a younger brother that lives in Spain. She doesn't have any pets right now but she has had cats over the years. Mrs. Gant has been teaching art for 15 years now but before that she taught young people in museums.

Before she was an art teacher here at Queen she taught art at two different schools in Missouri. Her favorite part of her job is that she gets to teach each student to draw and watch them learn how to use their skills. She loves the artwork her younger students create in her classroom and loves to show it off to the school. If she could teach any other subject she would teach Reading to the kids. But, if she could have any other job she would be a floral designer and help arrange flowers and greenery in a store.

Mrs. Gant has many hobbies but some of her favorites include painting, riding her bike around town, doing yoga, and gardening. She enjoys watching women's gymnastics and also enjoys watching bike races too. She also goes to watch the St. Louis Cardinals baseball games and STL City soccer games. When Mrs. Gant retires she hopes to spend time with her grandkids and still make art. That is all about Mrs. Gant and I hope you enjoyed it.
